The American Society for Adolescent Psychiatry (ASAP) is the only professional medical society oriented in existence to advocate exclusively for the mental health and substance abuse needs of Adolescents and Young Adults.

Who We Are . . .

The American Society for Adolescent Psychiatry is dedicated to the prevention and treatment of mental health disorders of adolescents and young adults and to the provision of optimal health care of patients. To achieve these goals, ASAP provides continuing medical education (CME) program for physicians, primarily psychiatrists, and other mental health professionals. CME programs must meet the standards of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education, improve the ability of psychiatrists and other physicians to recognize, diagnose and manage psychiatric conditions in adolescents and young adults, and disseminate new scientific knowledge and innovative clinical techniques and programs. Types of CME offerings are plenary sessions, lectures, workshops, panels, case conferences, demonstrations and questions and answers.

Established in 1967, the American Society for Adolescent Psychiatry has rich history of advocacy for safe and effective treatments for emotionally troubled and substance abusing teens and young adults. In 2009, it acquired the American Board of Adolescent Psychiatry (ABAP) and is now responsible for the process of certification and recertification of Diplomates in the sub-specialty of Adolescent and Young Adult Psychiatry.

The American Society for Adolescent Psychiatry holds an annual CME meeting and also offers members the benefits of a discounted subscription to our peer-reviewed quarterly journal, Adolescent Psychiatry.
